Coast Crime Commission charges misuse of CCF funds

According to allegations made by the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission, 89 percent of public contributions received by the Crippled Children Foundation Inc. (CCF) in Hancock County for 1974-75 was used for fund raising purposes rather than for therapy.

David Michael Turner of Kiln, president of the non-profit corporation, denied the allegations and said the commission figure is incorrect and was arrived at arbitrarily.

Turner claims that more than 66 percent of contributions to the CCF was spent on therapy.

Reportedly, the commission threatened an injunction last week against the CCF-sponsored Gulf Coast State Fair due to their concern over spending of CCF funds in addition to other irregularities in the foundation's operations. They issued a set of recommendations "to protect the public interest" which were to be implemented prior to the Fair's opening.

The first recommendation calls for the deeding over of approximately one acre of land on which the foundation is located in Kiln. That property, in addition to three adjoining acres on which their own residence is located, is owned by Turner and his wife Martha.

A second recommendation instructs Turner and CCF Secretary-Treasurer Robert Himmelsbach to establish a bank trustee to be responsible for funds received by CCF from the 10-day fair.

The final recommendation instructs CCF to name at least five additional persons who have no financial interest in the foundation to the six-member board.

Turner, his wife, and Himmelsbach are all stockholders in the corporation.

In addition to the above mentioned allegations, and areas covered in the recommendations, the commission is reportedly also concerned over alleged violations of gambling laws stemming from the foundation's raffle of an automobile and a free grocery shopping spree.

Turner told a CCF board meeting Tuesday that all three of the commission recommendations are in the process of being carried out.

Concerning the alleged gambling violations, he said the foundation will continue to sponsor raffles but participants will not be required to purchase anything to obtain a ticket.

Carter delegate returns with praise for nominee, 'Big Apple' convention

"Fabulous!"

National Democratic Convention Delegate Michael D. Haas summed up his New York experiences into the one word yesterday.

Interviewed on his return to Bay St. Louis, Haas said the convention was "...an experience of a lifetime..." and one neither he, nor his family, would forget.

Accompanied on the trip by his wife, Myrt, son Michael, and daughter Tish, Haas was one of four, original convention delegates pledged to Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia. He said the reason for such definition occurred because he and his associates were elected at state district meetings on Feb. 21, one full day ahead of the New Hampshire primary, Feb. 22. The other three original Carter delegates were Joann Gooden of Flora; State Representative Fred Banks, Jr. of Jackson; and Jan Robertson of Greenville.

Haas said Mississippi had 24 delegates and 24 alternates in New York. Others in the "official state delegation" included Lt. Governor Evelyn Gandy, representing Governor Cliff Finch - unable to attend because of illness. Gov. Finch is the titular head of the Democratic Party within the state.

and was chairman of the Mississippi party convention.

The Bay St. Louis attorney said from arrival to departure New York made the delegates feel "at home."

"On arrival at the airport we were welcomed by a delegation of Jaycees who formed a solid line of 'Welcome' from the ramp to the terminal building.

"We simply identified our luggage and somebody looked after it for us. The bus taking us downtown moved along specially marked lanes and took no time at all.

"On our arrival at the hotel, which incidentally was adjacent to Carter's headquarters, we were ushered in with 'red carpet' treatment," he said.

Haas credited the "pre-convention committee" members for smoothing the way and making the host of arrangements necessary for the smooth running of a convention of that magnitude.

"We had a representative from the office of the Governor of New York join our party at the airport and she stayed with us all during our tenure in 'The Big Apple,'" he said.

The convention's highlight, according to Haas, was Gov. Carter's acceptance speech.

"Carter demonstrated he has an awareness of the problems facing America. He has the determination to do something about these problems," Haas said.

Five indictments returned Monday

Five more indictments were handed down by the Hancock County grand jury before they adjourned Monday.

Indicted on separate charges of burglary were Timothy Johnson, 27, Rt. 3, Box 29, Bay St. Louis and Emmette Clark, 23, Lakeshore.

Patrick Toomey, 23, Rt. 3, Box 500, Bay St. Louis was indicted for two counts of arson and George L. O'Ferrell, 27, Lakeshore, will go to trial for sale of a controlled substance.

Melvin Luxich, 37, Rt. 2, Box 429, Bay St. Louis, was indicted for desertion.

The grand jury will remain on call throughout the July term of Circuit Court which is scheduled to conclude July 30.

protective devices at each stair landing and non-skid runners - items recommended by a previous grand jury. The overall upkeep of the building was described as being "...very good!"

The second section of the report was addressed directly to the supervisors, and contained 10 recommendations.

The posting of speed signs on rural roads, particularly in those areas subject to heavy traffic, was the first recommendation.

This was followed by a call for action on previous grand jury recommendations (similar to that already cited concerning the courthouse stair modifications).

The quality of food for the prisoners may be undergoing a decline the jury report said, and recommended the board ascertain whether or not the new catering system was an improvement over the former method.

Item five, sought a census of county population, an item leading to some discussion among supervisors and board attorney, Sam Favre. The need, according to Jury Foreman Steen, was to provide up-to-date head counts in a rapidly growing county, for utilization in applications for federal funds. The supervisors and the attorney, after indicating the government census taken every 10 years was the only acceptable figure in such applications, doubted if a county-sponsored census, costing between 50 cents and $1 per head, would be of benefit.

Kellar said the resettlement of people inside the now idle buffer zone would have greater value than a new census.

"The government does not need that land," Kellar said adding, "A resettlement of that area with people would result in the biggest boom in the State of Mississippi."

The only land the government will ever need is the 13,500 acres inside their fee area, said Kellar.

"We would get our share of new people into Hancock County but without this land it appears we do not have anything to offer," Kellar said.

Kellar also said charging all per capita income originating inside NSTL to Hancock County has "done more to hurt this county than anything else."

Vo-tech occupational classes won't feel money squeeze

POPLARVILLE -- Fall semester night and day occupational classes at the Pearl River College Vocational-Technical center will not be effected by the tight money situation presented by the State Vocational-Technical Department, James Forte, director, Poplarville Vo-tech center, said this week.

"The work oriented programs we have will be in full force," Forte said. "The money is available for those programs that teach or upgrade a person's profession or livelihood."

"But other special one-time courses may be cut back," Forte warned. According to early State Department reports, the funding first will be for the essential occupational classes and then for the added "extra's" presented by the state's vo-tech schools in the past few years.

Openings are available at this time in all of the departments' regularly scheduled day classes. For more information contact the PRC Vo-tech Department at 795-2288.

La. concrete fabricators plan relocation to Hancock

BY JAKE JACOB

Delta Concrete Piling, Inc. of Metairie, La., has plans to transfer its operations to a 25 acre tract inside Port Bienville Industrial Park, Supervisors learned Monday.

Wilson Wehre, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, informed county supervisors the commission has approved the sale of 10.34 acres to the company, along with an option on an additional, adjacent 15.2 acres.

Land costs, Wehre said, will total some $120,000. Of this amount, $62,040 will apply against the 10 plus acres, the balance ($57,960) to the option.

Of these sums, the port director said, $6,204, or ten percent, had been received as earnest money on the land buy, and another $5,796 for the 15.2 acre one year purchase option.

Wehre said the closure of the 10 odd acre sale agreement is expected within 30 days.

H.F. Daigle, president of Delta Concrete Piling, interviewed Tuesday, confirmed Wehre's disclosures. The plant is expected to employ approximately 30 employees immediately and later to increase to 75 within five years.

Daigle said as planning was still in its initial stages no top figure on investment could be provided.

Daigle said Delta planned no definite moves within the next three or four months due to our present contract commitments.

The company, he added, would have to stay manufacturing even while moving, a factor involving some considerable problems.

Daigle said Delta had decided to relocate at Port Bienville because of the attractive land costs and availability plus the fact that the park lay within easy reach of their existing markets.

Daigle said his company was further attracted to the Pearlport location by the availability of labor, the availability of rail service and water access.

"We pioneered our product and provide the consumer with a turn-key job," said Daigle.

Delta Concrete manufactures a triangular shaped construction piling, a building-product described as being unique to the industry by Daigle.

The land to be purchased by the company is described as lots 8, 9, and 12, which lot 8 being the area chosen for immediate purchase. Additionally, Delta Concrete is seeking the abandonment by the port commission of that part of ROAD D which dead ends but presently splits the company's proposed purchase.

Wehre said such a move would turn a non-utilized roadway into a cash sale.

To give a reference point, the concrete company's president said his operation would probably be a bit larger than Marine Concrete Structures, Inc., also located at Port Bienville, when everything was completed.

"We will be moving in some structures, but our initial concentration will be in setting up the casting beds," Daigle said. Local personnel will be enlisted to construct the initial facilities to permit the retention of Delta's manufacturing employees in production completion of present contracts, said Daigle.

"We have already employed about 10 of your local people in our Metairie plant and these people will, of course, be transferring back home when the move comes about," he added.

Daigle said some of Delta's present work force, which numbers approximately 50, may transfer with the company to Pearlport though, he added, it was difficult to determine just how many.

Hitchman announces

Dennis Hitchman, 26, a former tax accountant, announced his candidacy as an independent for the office of U. S. Congressman from the Fifth District at a Tuesday press conference in Gulfport.

Hitchman will face Republican incumbent Cong. Trent Lott and Rep. Gerald Blessey, who is running on the Democratic ticket.

In his announcement, Hitchman said he entered the campaign "because I believe that a man should continue the fight once we put him in office...not wait until the next election to resurrect his tired old promise."

Hitchman said the thrust of his campaign would be a "grassroots" strategy that would take him through the 12 counties in the Fifth District. Claiming that he hoped to visit "every city town, and village in the district," Hitchman said "By working together, we can bring government...back to the people where it belongs." He said the "critical issues" of the day were inflation, the economy, federal spending, tax and welfare reform, and emphasized his plan to apply his qualifications in the tax field toward "totally overhauling our unfair and arbitrary income tax structure."

Hitchman will stage his first meeting with the public during the Gulf Coast State Fair July 22 - Aug. 1 in Gulfport.

A U. S. Navy veteran, the Congressional hopeful attended Tompkins-Cortland Community College, graduating with honors. He taught "Principles of Taxation" for Phillips College and the American Institute of Banking for the past two years. He resigned his position as head of a bank tax department June 30 to run for office.

Board takes Port budget under advisement

by Jake Jacob

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors took an operating budget for its Port Commission under advisement Monday after presentation by port director Wilson W. Webre.

While not offering a detailed breakdown, Webre said it was based on a projected income to the commission of some $207,700.

The port director said this figure was derived from a three mill county ad valorem tax estimated to provide $108,000; a two mill state ad valorem tax levied income of $82,000; $1,200 from Bayou Caddy (Bayou Cadet) lease collections; and a $30,500 carry over from the commission's 1975-76 operations budget.

The budget has now joined those of the county's soil conservation service, hospital, school system, youth court, sheriff's department, tax assessor and collector, library system, and welfare office for final revision and paring by the supervisors prior to their acceptance.

A.J. (Dolph) Kellar, board president, noted that several county agencies had still not brought in the 1976-77 budgets.

"They have a year to get these budgets ready but it is always the same old story. We have to keep calling and asking them to send in their figures," Kellar said, noting that it was often the same agencies that were persistently late.

Supervisors agreed that second reviews and considerations may be afforded these late budget agencies.

Civil Defense Director Charles Carter Jr. told the board his budget was delayed by the uncertainty of state funds. Carter informed supervisors his budget would be presented at the board's session Aug. 2, a date acknowledged by the county legislators as being the "very latest."

Monday also became the day for supervisory appointments with a full slate being named to the advisory committee of the South Mississippi Economic Development District, and a lone name being placed on the board of Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

By beats, appointed to SMEDD were: one, Lester Haverly, Jr.; two, Rev. Robert Hargett; three, Edward Schambach III; four, John McKenna; five, P.D. Bailey. Ames Kergosen was appointed to GRPC.

Three road and bridge foremen had their lot improved when Beats One, Four and Five, received approval to put the men on a monthly salary instead of paying them by the hour.

All employed at $600 per month under new circumstances effective August 1 are: Beat One, Joel LaFrance; Beat Four, Richard Garcia; Beat Five O.D. Moran.

In other matters, supervisors heard that it is the intention of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission to post its claim dockets on the bulletin board inside both the courthouse and its own office - heard a letter stating the New Orleans Grain and Salvage Co., Inc. were withdrawing from their intention to construct an elevator at Port Bienville - due to a like operation now being erected by their competitors at Westwego.

-adopted the state uniform assessment schedule for motor vehicles, to apply against the issuing of plates this fall.

-heard Robert Riemann, owner of Riemann's Funeral Home, push for locating the county morgue - a facility utilizing public funds, at the hospital or on other county lands.

-authorized the "go ahead" on the ordering and installation of electronic dictating and recording devices in the Youth Court - based on a verbal approval being received for federal matching funds.

FmHa loans available for housing repairs

Residents of Hancock County who are in a low income bracket may be eligible for a housing repair loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

Kenneth W. Lee, FmHa county supervisor, said the basic objective of the loans was to assist owners of property in rural areas with repairs or improvements to their dwellings for safety or sanitation of family members and the community.

Loans to $5,000 at an interest rate of 10 percent may be made with 20 years to repay.

Examples of improvements are repairs for leaking roofs, repairs to structural supports or provisions for a sanitary water and waste disposal system.

Individuals who obtain this type of loan must own and occupy their dwelling, have a good reputation for paying their debts and have sufficient income to repay the loan.

Anyone interested in obtaining more information about this loan may contact the Farmers Home Administration at 503 Main Street, or call 467-9008 for an appointment.

Carter delegate....

Speaking of the role of the state's delegation, Haas expressed the opinion that party unity played a big part in their success.

"It is the first time the Democratic Party has been unified in about 12 years. I think that unity made itself evident at the convention."

"Mississippi has not voted a Democratic presidential ticket since 1956. Because of the unity now in the party I believe this state will vote Democratic in November," Haas said.

He said that this marks the first time "the state's Democratic leadership, the governor and lieutenant governor, and state and federal legislators have all joined in urging the people to vote for Carter."

The Democrats understand the need of the common man and try to help him. Carter understands the common man and I was impressed with his extent of knowledge concerning the common man's wants and needs," the delegate said.

Haas said it excited him to see so many famous people from all fields of life, and to see and "be a part of history in the making."

"We not only saw people who are prominent politicians, but every time we turned there was somebody else we recognized from the fields of entertainment, sports, and so forth," he added.

Mrs. Haas was equally enthusiastic about the experience.

Echoing her husband's words, she also described the convention as "fabulous," then she added some unique thoughts.

"This is the first time I have ever been with representatives of all 50 states at one time.

"It is inspiring to see people from all over the U.S. come together and realize just how much we are alike."

"I could not identify with Nixon, but Carter is natural and warm. It leaves a good feeling to be able to relate to the candidate."

"The national party convention is part of our system."

"The system may have some faults but it is still the best there is!"

Letters to the Editor

Save the Bay appeal made

Editor,
Sea Coast Echo,
Save the Bay, Inc. is still active although this correspondence is very belated and comes with many apologies.

By way of introduction: Save the Bay, Inc. is a non-profit corporation organized in the State of Mississippi for the purpose of preserving a healthy environment and improving and protecting the quality of life on our Gulf Coast. The corporation is comprised of members who have no interest in material profit by virtue of their membership, but who are residents of the Mississippi Gulf Coast area and are devoted to the Bay of St. Louis area in particular.

The E. I. DuPont Nemours Company proposes to locate an industrial plant on the shores of the Bay of St. Louis in de Lisle, where they will produce titanium dioxide, a white powder used as a pigment. The manufacturing process produces highly toxic wastes which have to be disposed of. DuPont proposes to dispose of most of the waste directly into the Bay. Another part of the waste will be discharged into a deep well injection system underground below the artesian water supply. Another effluent will be chlorine dust, which will be carried into the air. The discharge of effluent into the Bay will be at the rate of more than 2 million gallons per day and will include more than 1.8 pounds of iron per day, up to 897 pounds of solid waste per day, and trace amounts of vanadium, chromium and zinc. In addition, the state proposes to allow DuPont to inject into the Bay quantities of NCA, antimony, cobalt, mercury, lead, arsenic, selenium, nickel, cadmium, beryllium, copper, molybdenum, arsenic and cyanide. The deep well will receive up to 40,000 pounds of vanadium per day and significant amounts of mercury, cadmium, cyanide and the other toxic materials listed above.

We believe the pollution from these discharges will destroy the fragile estuarine character of the Bay of St. Louis. Beyond that, the threat is that this industry on the shores of St. Louis Bay will convert the Bay from a previously untouched area to an industrial area. Once the first industry is located there, the Bay loses much of the legal protection afforded to areas free from industrial pollution. Consequently, the threat of the DuPont plant cannot be viewed as the threat of a single polluter, but rather the threat of changing the character of our area from a residential and recreational one to an industrial one, which means that more industries will be desirous of, and more likely to locate there. Incidentally, this is the 3rd state DuPont has tried to locate in, and they are frantic to locate their plant. It was initially presumed that the plant intended locating in one of the two industrial parks in Harrison or Hancock Counties which are planned and zoned for industrial use.

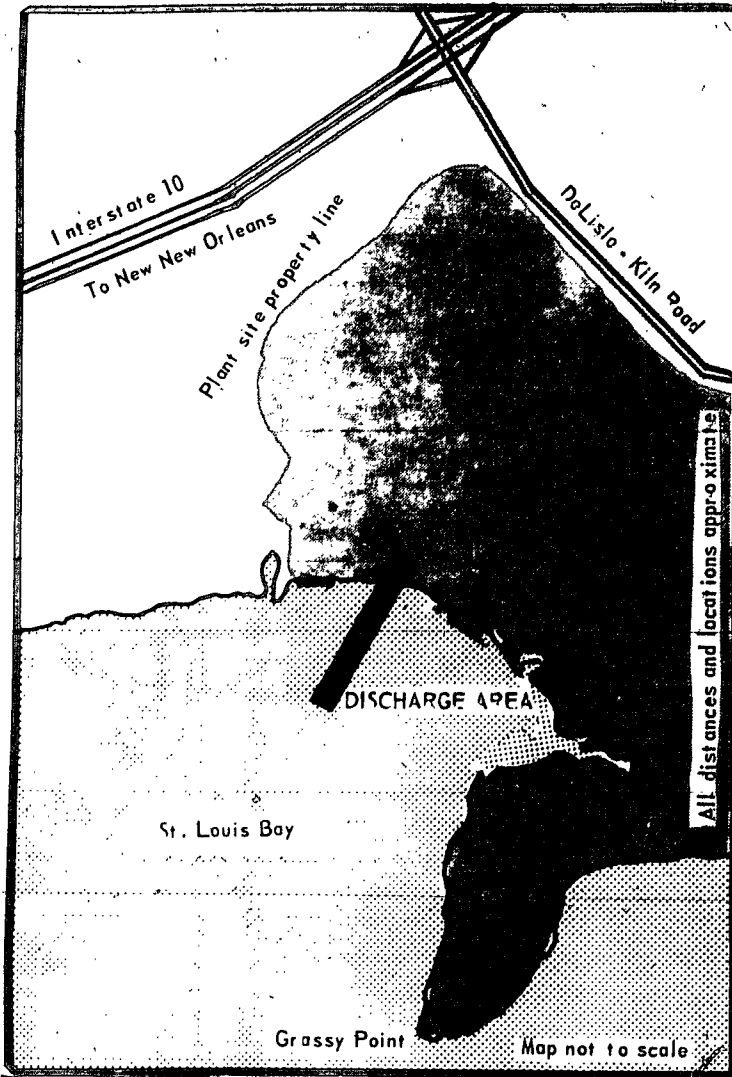

One would presume that the Environmental Protection Agency would be the logical safeguard against the dangers presented by the DuPont Company. The truth is that the EPA has completely delegated its authority to grant permits in Mississippi to a state agency and is now taking a hands-off position with regard to the decidedly questionable actions of that agency.

The agency, the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission, granted DuPont a discharge permit after a hasty hearing in which the Federally guaranteed principle of open public participation was violated at every stage. The sum total of scientific evidence concerning the Bay waters which was used to obtain the permit was commissioned by DuPont, and was based on a mere two-day water sampling in the dead of winter. Seasonal variations, spawning cycles, thermal changes, and tidal action were among the considerations impossible to measure in this meagre time period. The scientists questioned the possibility of making any accurate interpretation at all from the "paucity of data," and voiced concern, as is true all over the country, about the safety of deep well injection waste disposal.

NO TRUE ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT CONCERNING THIS PLANT HAS EVER BEEN MADE. Astoundingly, the Corps of Engineers and the EPA are taking the position that they are not required to make one. If SAVE THE BAY can gather enough financial support, we will file suit against the Corps under the National Environmental Protection Act of 1969 to force them to perform their own duties and make an Environmental Impact Statement as the law requires.

The present legal status is as follows: Save The Bay, Inc. and George Reiss (former president) are plaintiffs in a case filed in the Chancery Court (State) in Gulfport. The judge in that case has recently denied our complaint, and we have filed for an appeal to the Mississippi Supreme Court. The expenses for this are $3,000. There is an excellent chance that the appeal can be won.

Save The Bay, Inc. has also filed a suit in the 5th (District) Circuit Federal

Area of Bay concerned in
Save the Bay letter

Court of Appeals against the Environmental Protection Agency which is now pending. This suit is to force the EPA to invalidate DuPont's state-granted permit and force a new hearing based on a true Environmental Impact Statement, allowing the public full participation and the opportunity to file affidavits by experts showing the environmental harm the plant threatens. In conclusion: Save The Bay, Inc. needs money in order to save the Bay. We have excellent legal counsel in the person of Robert O. Homes, Jr., who has worked tirelessly and with dedication on this project. He is proceeding down every avenue, including meeting with the EPA administrators in Washington to try to win their concern. There are many expenses to incur in order to successfully fight the behemoth. Save The Bay, Inc. needs your help. Please send your check now to:

Wagon train arrival told

To the editor,
We lived in Pass Christian from 1965 to 1972 and read your newspaper regularly.

The recent July 4th weekend celebration in our city of Philadelphia had many historical events of interest, but the one we found most fascinating was the arrival of the Bicentennial wagon train so as to participate in the presidential ceremonies at Valley Forge National Park. I enclose several clippings from our newspapers here which describe the Wagon Train Project.

One of the articles tells a little about Hugo Favre of Bay St. Louis who drove one of the three Mississippi wagons. The article does not mention his partners, Elmer Watts of Gulfport. Mr. Watts was a friend of ours when we lived down there and it was a pleasant surprise to find him, his wife and grandson in the Southern wagon train. Another helper with their wagon was A.E. Allen of Gulfport. This wagon and auxiliary support vehicles started out early in February from Bay St. Louis and traveled 2,000 miles up here, making 20-30 miles a day. They went through all kinds of hardships enroute, as well as at Valley Forge, but the horses and mules were in tip-top shape - the people looked tired!

Our family has warm memories of our years spent on the Gulf Coast.

Sincerely,
Dorothy E. Caldwell

Reader complains about utility bills

I feel sure I am not the only Miss. Power Company customer who received an important notice to our customers with last month's billing. Several months ago when REA customers were complaining about exorbitant billings a couple of my friends approached me and said that I should write to this editor. I really do enjoy helping people but Coast Electric charges are none of my business. And I know that these "friends" are as qualified to write as I am, so why did they want "me" to put my head on the Chop block?

Apparently it all adds up to one thing as this (important notice) points out. — There's always someone on the side line asking for, demanding, and in some cases just plain out taking and enjoying what ever they desire at the expense of someone out there striving to make an honest living as well as improve the surrounding environmental conditions of the community.

As you will see I think I write in all fairness at this time.

For you that did not receive this notice here it is in part, quote (An increasing number of electric service accounts are behind in payment. This means that (all) company customers have to pay the added cost brought on by all those who pay late) end quote.

For the past thirty years that I have used electricity it has always been my understanding that anytime a person was delinquent, they were cut off and had to pay up in full plus a reconnect charge before they could get more service, and I am sure that the percentage that failed to do this is zero.

If I am called upon to help our poor Miss. Power Co. to finance these delinquents why shouldn't I get my (stake) back when they pay? To whom does this "double collection" go?

What makes the ordeal harder to tolerate is the fact that I feel sure that most of these delinquents that I am helping to provide for are living in a 70 degrees air conditioned home while I am struggling for survival in an 80 degrees temperature which is derived from a second rate attic fan. Justice?? What do you "current" customers think?

Finally what I started out to say is that my May bill for thirty days was 41 percent less than my June bill for 32 days to do just about the same job. For

The Sunset Law, a practical way to eliminate redundancy

It has been said that if government made people, then no one would ever die.

Government at all levels, indeed, has seldom been known to kill anything it has created — especially another branch of government.

The American people have watched as government agencies have grown and new ones have been added. It seems that many of the governmental arms which were brought into existence to meet certain crisis situations remain in operation in perpetuity, even after the crisis is forgotten.

Some states have taken action to see that practice ended. Even the United States Congress is studying a method to bring it to a halt. The new element on the scene — the enemy of antiquated governmental bureaus — is the "sunset law."

Colorado, Georgia and Florida have enacted these far-reaching proposals which set specific lifetimes for each agency, board, department or commission in their governments.

Essentially, the "sunset law" says that three, four or five years after an agency is created, the agency will be automatically abolished unless the need for its continued existence is proved to the legislative body. The law causes a review of every program and expenditure of government on a regular basis. It's a good system of accountability.

"Sunset laws" are a method of keeping a handle on government growth. If the continued existence of that agency is justified, the leaders of that arm of government will have to look at the aims, methods and reasons for existence of that particular agency.

Such a law would probably cause abolition of some bodies. But a greater return can come from that agency's self-examination, during which it must answer the question, "Is this agency worth the taxpayers' continued investment?"

Valley Forge! I visited that State Park in Pennsylvania on April 21 and tried to imagine how the area would look on the Fourth of July when the Wagon Train was scheduled to arrive.

This is what I saw: Roughly 2,000 acres of camp ground, a marvelous Washington Memorial Chapel, a well documented museum of natural history and an impressive National Memorial Arch. The arch, similar in style to the Arc de Triomphe in France, was inscribed:

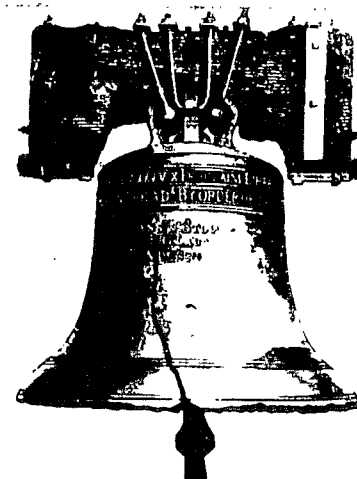

"Naked and starving as they are we cannot enough admire the incomparable patience and fidelity of the soldiery."

And I thought of the plight of General George Washington and his Continental Army — an army of about 11,000 men living in rude huts built of logs they had hewn ... men with little food, no creature comforts ... many sick and dying. If ever, a time to test men's souls.

I saw the area marked off where the 50 official wagons were to camp together with the six "lead wagons" representing the Northern and Central Great Lakes Routes, Great Wagon Road, Southern Route, as well as both Southern and Northern Colonial State Routes. Even then, in April, there was a building up of pressure. An obvious stress on the parts of those responsible for readying such an ambitious undertaking. In addition to the wagon train entourage, there was expected an untold number of "outiders," tourists, and patriots all eager to be a part of, or witness to, the great celebration of America's 200th anniversary of independence.

There was talk of the Boy Scout encampment and the problems it had posed.

Meanwhile slowly, but steadily, the wagon trains were making 20 to 30 the same period it showed a 52 percent increase in KW hrs. used. "Yes, I know it was hotter in June than in May but was there that much difference? I didn't think to check my meter.

Consequently could it be that my fair share toward the delinquent-accounts amounted to about $8 to $10 for June. Earl Lizana 307 Carroll Ave. Bay St. Louis miles per day - Eastward Ho! Destination - Valley Forge. Patriotic Americans eager to endure hardships enroute to get the feel and the spirit of pioneers of 1776.

Mississippi's Wagon Train official entourage entertained in Pearlport, Waveland and Bay St. Louis. They were joined by outriders Hugo and Verna Favre and their three sons, all of Bay St. Louis, Elmer and Vera Watts of Gulfport, and by A. E. and Sybil Allen and their three sons, also of Gulfport. Favre reported to Michael Zielenzger, a staff writer for the "Philadelphia Inquirer," that he had spent $7,000 during the five month sojourn. (He's back home now and reports are he expects to publish a book giving an account of some of his experiences on this trip.)

If the outriders wished to experience some of the hardships endured by our pioneers, from several accounts published in such papers as "The Evening Bulletin," "Today's Post," and "Philadelphia Inquirer," well, they were not disappointed. They had hardships alright. Maybe not hostile Indians — but tourists, crying babies, dying horses, thirst and heat, and poor camping facilities at Valley Forge.

The Valley Forge park reception was termed "a disgrace." It seems the group arrived during a Saturday downpour and found a pair of portable toilets (full) in the middle of a field — no place to change wet clothing — no water — no food — no welcome. They found security poor — and their camping area was far removed from activities. Tourists wrote magic marker messages all over the wagons and stripped them of everything movable.

Yes, conditions at Valley Forge were not ideal when George Washington's men camped there in the winter of 1777 — and, according to reports, conditions at Valley Forge during the summer of 1976 left something to be desired!

To paraphrase: Wet and tired and hot as they are we cannot enough admire the incomparable patience and fidelity of the Eastward Ho! Wagoners.

52 deaths reported from farm accidents

Fifty-two persons died as the result of farm accidents sustained during 1975 in the State of Mississippi, according to Louis Breaux, president, Hancock County Farm Bureau.

Breaux said state death certificates show drowning (19) as the principal accident villain, with farm equipment mishaps (17) as number two. Other causes of rural deaths were gun shots, 8; falling objects, 2; falls, 1; and airplane mishaps, 3.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday joined with the farm bureau in proclaiming the week of July 25 through 31 as National Farm Safety Week.

Alton Kellar, board president, said that his board was concerned over these needless deaths and hoped the farm bureau, and other like agencies, would be successful in educating county farmers, and members of the general public, concerning danger spots in rural areas. Such knowledge, Kellar claimed, will permit people to take corrective measures by recognizing the involved dangers.

Kellar said definite precautions can be taken to reduce death from drowning.

"Many drownings are simply the result of fishing accidents in rivers and farm ponds, caused by fishermen just not thinking.

IT WAS GRAND! — Mrs. Elizabeth Burbank Bradford is elated, and a shipyard official is soaked, after she christened the new Navy destroyer, O'Brien, at Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton Industries in Pascagoula Saturday. Mrs. Bradford is the great, great grand niece of Jeremiah O'Brien, a Naval hero of the Revolutionary War, for whom the ship is named. In the background is Mrs. David C. Scott of La Quinta, Calif., who served as Matron of Honor for the christening, and Leonard Erb, Vice President of Litton Industries and President of Ingalls Shipbuilding.

Billy Griffin appointed SCS deputy conservationist

Appointment of Billy C. Griffin as deputy state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, was announced this week by W.L. Heard, state conservationist, Jackson.

Griffin, a native of Texas, began his SCS career in 1954 as a soil conservationist. He has served as area conservationist at Pecos and Temple, Tex., and as district conservationist at San Antonio.

Immediately prior to transferring to Mississippi, he spent two years at Temple as assistant state conservationist for operations.

Griffin has received numerous honors, including a Certificate of Merit in 1968 and two outstanding Performance Ratings—one in 1965 and one in 1973.

He graduated from Southwest Texas University with a

B.S. in agricultural education and taught in high school and Veteran's School before going to work for SCS. He spent two years in military service during the Korean Conflict.

Cong. O'Brien christens Navy Spruance destroyer

PASCAGOULA — As a matter of principle, America can't base its defense efforts only on what we feel we can afford, U.S. Cong. George M. O'Brien of Illinois said Saturday in christening ceremonies for an advanced U.S. Navy destroyer.

"Defense isn't some luxury to be dropped when the economy is off its feed and picked up when it's strong," he said. "We can never afford not to do what is necessary to assure the safety of our people and our nation."

Cong. O'Brien, as the principal speaker, made the statement in an address at the christening ceremony for the O'Brien DD-975, the 13th ship of 30 Spruance class destroyers being built for the Navy by Ingalls Shipbuilding division of Litton Industries.

A member of the House

Armed Services Committee, O'Brien has been made very aware of the need for ships like the Spruance-class. "It's no secret that the Soviets are spending one-third more on naval shipbuilding than we are," the Congressman said. "And it's also no secret that they are laying the emphasis on ships with heavy offensive capabilities, including submarines, that far outstrip our own underwater forces."

The advanced Spruance destroyers, designed and built by Ingalls, have anti-submarine warfare for their primary mission. "Ingalls has had the total responsibility for producing these new ships, from design to production to delivery," the Congressman said. "From where I'm standing, I must say I am impressed from what I've heard and read about this type ship. Ingalls deserves a hearty thanks for a job well done."

According to the Congressman, defense spending is taking the lowest portion of our national budget since before the Korean War. "If well managed, our economy can provide the defense we need and much more," he said. "This destroyer project proves that."

In discussing defense threats to America, the Congressman said, "I am reassured that our Armed Forces, with the support of the American people, can meet that threat and overcome it. And I am confident that imaginative companies like Ingalls Shipbuilding and Litton will continue to come up with the weapons and technology to deal with our adversaries."

Ingalls President Len Erb said that three of the DD-983 Spruance-class ships have already joined our naval forces and two more are scheduled to be delivered before the end of the year. He also said that the O'Brien was more complete, at the time of her launching, than any other ship at that stage of construction. "We estimate that nearly 71 percent of the total work on the O'Brien was completed at launch," Erb said.

"This is significant for several reasons," he said.

Council reaccredits UM social work program

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — The University of Mississippi Social Work Program has been re-accredited through June, 1978 by the Council on Social Work Education. Accredited for the first time two years ago the program has grown from 95 majors in 1974 to 130 today. Dr. Gary Moores, director of the Social Work Program, credits this surge in enrollment partly to accreditation by the New York-based Council.

"This is the only body that accredits social work programs," said Dr. Moores. "Accreditation enables our students to go on for a one-year Master's program and enhances educational and job

"One is that we consider this percentage of completion to be the optimum for launching a ship under the modular methods of construction that we use here," he continued. "And reaching this goal for DD-975 means we will launch each succeeding ship at about the same percentage of completion. With each ship being practically identical at launch, we have now achieved true assembly-line techniques in the prelaunch construction of these ships, and we can also reap the advantages of similar techniques during the post-launch, or outfitting period."

In noting that the three destroyers of this class that have been delivered to the Navy are performing magnificently, Erb said, "On behalf of the 24,000 employees at Ingalls, I want you to know that we are confident that this ship, when it is completed and joins the Navy Fleet, will be worthy of the trust, confidence and responsibility placed upon her."

Jurors ask action ...

After calling for the proper posting and maintenance of school zone and school signs throughout the county, the jury report recommended that transportation "other than sheriff's vehicles" be provided for future grand jurors on their inspection tours.

"By utilizing four cars, we almost completely demobilized the sheriff's department," Steen claimed, adding it was the understanding of jury members the department only had five cars.

Attorney Favre said the situation could probably be best solved by utilizing a school bus on such future excursions.

In like vein, the report recommended that additional sheriff's deputies be hired "when sufficient funds are available," and that all public offices within the county remain open during lunch hour to better meet the needs of the public.

Children responsible for city woods fires

Bay Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie said a recent rash of woods fires in the 500 block of Easterbrook Street were caused by children playing with matches.

"Though there was no damage or injuries, serious problems could result if another fire broke out while the men were spending five minutes to douse burning pine straw," he said.

Gavagnie said members of the fire department have talked to children in the neighborhood warning them of the dangers, and asks parents to augment the instruction at home.

Item eight recommended implementation of a central purchasing system for all city and county agencies with the final item calling for all personal contracts enacted between the county and its employees, to be written and specific.

Miss Hospitality hopefuls plunge into pageant week

Every year, as for the past 27, Mississippi's Governor has proclaimed the month of June as Hospitality Month in Mississippi. Traditionally, this proclamation has set in motion a series of events which ultimately conclude in the crowning of one lovely young lady as the state's "Miss Hospitality."

Sponsored by the Travel and Tourism Department of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, the Miss Hospitality Pageant will be held July 21-24 at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi.

However, its preliminaries began months ago with letters from the A&I Board to the mayors of hamlets, towns and cities all over the state encouraging them to hold local contests and select a girl from their community to compete in the statewide pageant.

One of the many benefits of this type participation is that whether or not a girl is selected as the state's representative, she is still a local Miss Hospitality title holder and has numerous opportunities to participate in ribbon cuttings, parades, fairs, etc. throughout the year for her own community.

What are the prerequisites for the state "Miss Hospitality" title holder? She must be attractive, of course, but beauty is not the main objective. Above all, she must be poised, extroverted, intelligent and able to put her best foot forward under a variety of conditions. She has the ability to speak in a positive manner about the State of Mississippi and in actuality portray the title she holds. It's a tall order, and requires a special girl. The fact that Mississippi produces an abundance of outstanding girls is what has made the program so successful over the years. The task of narrowing the field of contestants down to one winner and two alternates is awesome.

Making the selection from this year's bevy of 80 young ladies are three eminently qualified judges, including Steve Bradford, vice president of P.S. Promotions, Inc.; Tomi Abbott, travel market director for Mademoiselle Magazine; and Ed Stone, public relations director for Opryland U.S.A.

Bradford is a native of Winston-Salem, N.C. He holds a B.S. degree in speech and drama from the University of Nebraska. For several years he worked as a radio and television news announcer before joining the U.S. Air Force and serving with the Armed Forces Radio and Television Network in station assignments in Florida, Thailand and Tokyo. Upon leaving the military, Bradford joined NBC in the area of guest relations and program promotion. In 1971 he became administrator of the Program Merchandise Department of NBC, supervising the utilization of products and merchandise on network programming. In 1974 Bradford left NBC to form P.S. Promotions, Inc., a California based promotional advertising agency specializing in product placement and representation on network and syndicated television programs.

Ms. Abbott, a native of Arkansas, received her B.A. from the University of Missouri, and is currently doing graduate work in communications at Hunter College of the City University of New York. Ms. Abbott joined the Mademoiselle staff in 1975, having formerly worked with American Airlines where she was manager of Women's News.

While at American she also initiated a personal appearance program for airlines personnel, served as the company's spokeswoman on television and radio shows across the country and developed marketing and sales plans. At Mademoiselle Magazine she serves as travel market director. Her work as a liaison between the travel industry and the young female traveler may take her anywhere from Rio to Quebec.

Stone, a native of Greensboro, Ga., attended Young Harris College and the University of Georgia. He graduated from the Henry Grady School of Journalism in Georgia. From 1963 to 1974 he was employed by Callaway Gardens in Pine Mountain, Ga. where he worked in all areas of promotion, publicity, sales and public relations. He served as public relations director at the Gardens until he joined the Opryland staff in November of 1974. He is a member of the Nashville Press Club, the Outdoor Writers of America, the Tennessee Association of Broadcasters and several other public relations organizations.

some 60,000 miles across the state and nation to travel shows, conventions, etc., promoting the State of Mississippi.

The Hospitality festivities formally began with registration Wednesday, followed by briefings for photography and radio interviews and a luncheon courtesy of the Buena Vista Hotel.

In the afternoon the girls began their judging sessions and modeling instruction and closed their evening with a seafood jamboree poolside.

Today will include two judging and modeling sessions and the inclusion of one of the new additions to the program, practice of the Miss Hospitality song that will be sung during coronation ceremonies. The day will conclude with a formal dinner. Friday, it's business as usual with judging and modeling sessions, luncheon courtesy of the Jackson County Port Authority and rehearsal for the coronation ceremonies. The evening's special activity will be a yachting party and box supper aboard the Pan American Clipper.

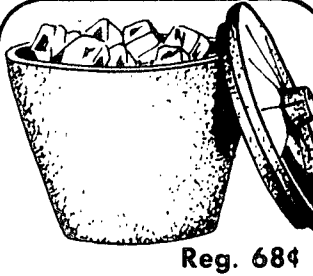

Saturday morning, the reigning Miss Hospitality, Karen Alexander of Union, will host a breakfast for this year's contestants.

Coronation rehearsals will be held and the girls will be on their own following luncheon to prepare for the night's big event - the crowning of "Miss Hospitality" for 1976.

Photographs and stories on the girls and their activities will be sent out daily from the Pageant press room to papers across the state.

Dr. and Mrs. Ron Pruet of the University of Mississippi.

"Run from the Pale Pony" shows life with chronic illness

Special to the Echo
OXFORD — After living for 14 years with chronic illness, Ronald and Myra Sue Pruet decided to talk about it.

The result of their decision is a candid book called "Run from the Pale Pony," published by Baker Book House of Grand Rapids, Mich. The Pale Pony refers to chronic illness and its effects on the stricken, their loved ones, and those who minister to them medically, mentally and spiritually.

"I don't pretend great medical or religious knowledge," Dr. Pruet wrote, "nor would I suggest a heretofore secret cure for what ails you, yours or those you visit. What we do share in 'Run from the Pale Pony,' however, are verbal pictures of very real experiences of family members responding to a serious illness."

"Furthermore, I don't claim that we are a unique family—far from it. The number of people who are in a similar situation is quite large, and other answers to chronic illness may be more heroic or even superior to ours. I will say this though: We are meeting daily problems now in such a way that all members of our family are happy, productive and secure."

In the summer of 1963, after two years of what he calls the "big wondering," Dr. Pruet's illness was diagnosed as multiple sclerosis. At the time the family (the couple has three sons) was living in Midland, Tex., where he was part owner and manager of a leasing company, owner of a coin laundry, and has business interest in a coin laundry in nearby Odessa. With an undergraduate degree in petroleum engineering from Texas Tech, he had also been an independent oil man and a consultant to oil companies for almost 15 years.

Within a week after Dr. Pruet had walked into the Abilene hospital and a few days after the diagnosis, he was unable to walk. Though there is no known cure for MS, various treatments have helped some victims. After a month passed and there was no improvement for him, his wife decided they should go to the Mayo Clinic, and when they returned to Midland two months later Dr. Pruet was walking and resumed work at the leasing company.

Almost a year and a half later, Dr. Pruet's father suggested that he go back to school to prepare himself for a was about Ronald's illness—how desolate and alone I felt. Then I realized that I truly am a child of God, that I must trust Him for everything, and that my faith must be strengthened."

Mrs. Pruet taught fourth grade before her husband returned to school, and while he wrote his dissertation she taught at the Texas State School for the Deaf. After they moved to Oxford she earned a better job. After several obstacles were cleared, he enrolled at the University of Texas in Austin in 1965 and earned a Master of Business Administration degree and a Ph.D. in economics by 1969. Since then he has served as Associate professor of Economics and Finance at the University of Mississippi.

"Ronald's illness is definitely not my favorite topic of conversation," wrote Mrs. Pruet. "The Pale Pony has always been very hard for me to deal with. Imagine my feelings toward an unwanted, uninvited guest that has been around for about 14 years. I've found firsthand that the indirect effects of chronic illness—watching from one step away—can be as painful as any chronic illness."

Mrs. Pruet met her own Pale Pony, in the form of mental illness from the anguish she suffered because of her husband's illness.

"I could not tolerate my life style anymore; nor could I watch Ronald's life slipping away from me," she wrote. With the help of a Christian psychiatrist "...I began to see clearly how brokenhearted I master's in Guidance and Counseling at Ole Miss, but found no job. She is now a full-time housewife."

Since 1963 Dr. Pruet has gone from operating business and professional interests to teaching college classes from a wheelchair, and during that interim both Pruet's faced the fears that change can bring. In their book they relate their experiences in prevailing in the face of a serious illness.

County agent notes

Prepare land now for grazing crops

By JOHN W. SMITH
If you plan to plant winter grazing - oats, wheat, rye or ryegrass - this fall, start fallowing the land now. The fallowing increases water intake of the soil and allows the soil to store more moisture.

This will help insure that enough moisture is available to get a stand and allow rapid development of the plants' root system. Land should be disked about every two weeks between now and planting time.

Packed soils should be flatbroken or subsoiled and then disked until a smooth, well prepared seedbed is acquired.

"Be sure to take soil samples. If time is needed, apply it between diskings to get it thoroughly mixed with the soil."

PORK PRODUCTION
About one-fourth to one-third of the total feed costs in a hog production operation is used to maintain the breeding herd. An efficient feeding program will help you get the top dollar from your hog operation.

If possible, sows and gilts should be fed in individual feeding stalls. This assures better control of the feed intake of each animal.

If you do not use individual feeding stalls, allow enough feeding area to prevent the older and larger sows from getting more than their share. It is best to separate sows and gilts, or group them by size.

WEED CONTROL
Cold steel cultivation - is one sure way to get rid of grass and weeds and avoid cultivating too close to the drill. If you prune the feeder roots of cotton or soybeans, you will damage the crop heavily.

DAIRY NOTES
Don't let flies dip into your dairy profits. Heavy fly infestations can cost you plenty during the season. However, you can control flies.

One simple way is to hang a sack duster inside the exit of the milking parlor. In the sack duster use three percent Clostrid dust, one percent Cor-Ral or three percent Rabon dust.

When using any agricultural chemical, be sure to follow label directions to the letter.

ANTONIO PASCALE WCC to evaluate transcripts

Antonio Pascale, admissions director, William Carey College on the Coast, will be in the office of the new campus July 24 - 28 for the purpose of evaluating transcripts for potential students.

Pascale will be available from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. each of the three days. Persons desiring an interview may phone 896-3582 or visit the office at 1856 Beach Drive.

You'll probably sleep a lot better, some psychologists say, if you furnish your bedroom in soothing colors. Traditional blues and greens are still used, but earth tones, such as rust and brown, may prove just as relaxing.

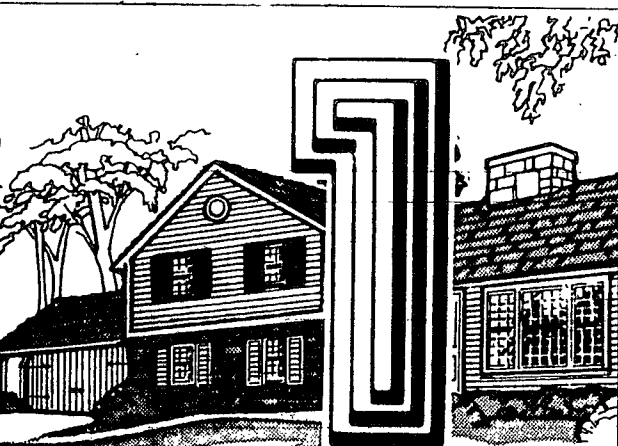

Main St. Methodist choir to present sacred musical

The Main Street United Methodist Church choir will present the sacred musical, "Something Beautiful" during the 11 a.m. worship hour, Sunday, July 25.

An organ and piano duo will be performed by Mrs. Danny Howard, choir director, and Mrs. James Woodfin, church organist. In addition, solos will be given by Mrs. Billy McLain, James Woodfin, and Howard Parker.

Other choir members participating in the concert are Mrs. Gilbert Oliver, Mrs. Sam Whitfield, Mrs. Howard Parker, Ms. Lisa Smith, Robert Delcuze, Charles Lampa, Francis Stephens and Danny Howard. Narration for the concert will be delivered by Travis Hensley.

The choir will also present this concert on Sunday evening, July 25 at 7 p.m. at Long Beach United Methodist Church.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Notice is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, by appropriate order on its Minutes, adopted at its regular June 23, 1976 meeting, created an Emergency Medical Service District for all of Hancock County, including the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, unless said cities by appropriate resolution, elect not to become a part of said Emergency Medical Service District, and that the Board of Supervisors pursuant to the provisions of Section 41-94-59 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 intends to impose a levy of one (1) mill against all of the taxable property of the County for the operation, support and maintenance of said emergency medical service district unless a petition is signed by 20 percent of the qualified electors of Hancock County or 1500, whichever is the lesser, which petition shall protest against the levy of such tax, in which event said tax shall not be levied unless authorized by a majority of the qualified electors of said County voting at an election caused and held for that purpose. Said one mill levy shall be imposed at the regular September 1976 meeting, at which time the regular millage levy for the county is imposed by order of the Board of Supervisors.
Published by order of the Board of Supervisors on the 28th day of June, 1976.

Stennis warns MAS delegates of increased federal spending

BILOXI - Senator John C. Stennis told the Mississippi Association of Supervisors last week that no matter who is elected President this fall or which party controls Congress next January, there will be a strong push in at least five areas to increase federal spending for welfare and social programs.

In remarks during the Supervisors' annual meeting in Biloxi, Stennis said the American people can expect "an increased demand for higher welfare payments; a demand for immediate take-over of all local welfare costs by the Federal government; a drive for a national health insurance program; a renewed effort for a Federal-funded job guarantee program; and, a demand for a minimum income plan for the poor."

The Mississippi Senator expressed the belief, "We must turn our backs on planned and regimented approaches for our economy. We must not spurn and deny the free enterprise system which has made this country so great." Stennis pointed out that the demands for federal funding in these areas are gaining "political support at a time when the Federal budget has just closed out FY 1976 with a $72 billion deficit and the projected deficit for FY 1977 is $51 billion."

As an example of the impact of these proposals, Stennis restated his opposition to the so-called Humphrey-Hawkins bill which would provide for widening economic planning at the Federal level. The bill "contemplates a job program, including using the Federal government as an employer of last resort, designed to achieve a three percent adult unemployment rate by 1980." Stennis contended that this objective is "unrealistic" when one considers the fact that unemployment "has dropped below three percent only once since 1948."

"No matter how praiseworthy the goals of this bill might be," Stennis said, "we simply cannot afford it. It would put the Federal government almost totally in control of all aspects of our economic life." Stennis charged, "It would greatly increase our national spending and, to pay for the program, we would either have to raise taxes or increase deficit spending, with either course leading to renewed inflation and a drastic economic downturn."

Turning to what he called "the single most significant event of last year," Stennis discussed "the apparent switch of the United States Supreme Court membership to a more moderate judicial philosophy." The Mississippi Senator asserted, "It seems plans to me that the Burger Court is going to make a tremendous difference in what is and will be the law of the land. It has left the treacherous shores of judicial activism and is charting a more conservative course.... In my opinion, this is good for the county, good for the judiciary and good for the people as a whole." Stennis pinpointed Court decisions on the death penalty, minimum wage and hour requirements for state and local employees, and limiting gag orders on the press as examples of the shift. Stennis praised the recent decisions of the Court for showing a "pronounced leaning to states' rights in the Federal system."

Stennis said he is "greatly concerned by the very slow progress" in the Senate to extend the general revenue sharing program beyond the December 31 expiration date. Pointing out that he had previously made two speeches in the Senate urging more speedy action, Stennis warned, "We invite serious trouble, and cause problems for the political subdivisions who receive the funds, if we delay too long in moving forward with this essential legislation."

The Mississippi Senator praised the fact that general revenue sharing funds are provided "with few strings attached" which "allows the people who know what the priority needs are...to determine how the money should be spent. I believe this is as it should be." The funds, Stennis said, "have become an integral and essential part of the budgets and economic structures of the states, counties, cities and towns." He continued, "They have

UNIVERSITY - An original musical written by two University of Mississippi professors will complete the 1976 Summer Showcase and bring to life one of William Faulkner's few light-hearted and comic short stories.

"The Battle of Harrykin Creek," based on the Nobel Prize winning author's "My Grandmother Millard and General Bedford Forrest and the Battle of Harrykin Creek" will be presented Aug. 3-7 in the Education Auditorium. Book and lyrics are by Dr. Evans B. Harrington, professor of English, with music by Dr. Andrew Fox, associate professor of Music Theory.

Dr. Don McBryde, chairman of the Ole Miss Theatre Department is directing.

Set in the midst of the Civil War in Mississippi, the plot revolves around Granny Millard, valiant mistress of Colonel John Sartoris' plantation, who has rehearsed the slaves and children in burying the family silver. But she is surprised by a Yankee and has to resort to hiding the trunk of silver in the privy or "backhouse."

The circumstances of the Yankee raid and the timely rescue by friendly forces result in a young Confederate officer's infatuation with Granny's beautiful granddaughter, Melisandre.

Ill-fated, the two lovers are helped along in their relationship by Granny and eventually General Nathan Bedford Forrest, a bearded and vigorous Confederate officer. Granny's and the General's efforts to achieve the union of the romantic couple make up the rest of the story.

Other principals include Granny's 12 year-old grandson, Bayard, and his black counterpart, Ringo; Ab Snopes, a white trash hanger-on; Lucius, who longs to be free, his wife, Philadelphia, and his parents, Louvinia and Joby; as well as a bevy of Southern maidens.

Cast of Characters are Betty Harrington, Oxford, as Granny; Marcelle Reeves, Greenwood; Melisandre; Leland Fox, Oxford, Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest; Peyton Hooper, Oxford, Bayard Sartoris; Ben Ash-

National Farm Safety Week

PROCLAMATION

By
Alton A. Kellar, President of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County

July 19, 1976

The growth of mankind to its present state of advancement has been due to the amazing, unparalleled efficiency, dedication, and productive capacity of American agriculture. In its move to greater technology certain inherent perils have developed in the use of modern farming equipment and techniques which today make agriculture the third most hazardous occupation in the United States.

Farm accidents can and do strike at all stages of farm life; at work, at home, and at play. The results of these accidents, the disabling injuries and tragic loss of life, can be curtailed if a few simple precautions are followed by each farm family.

The precious waste of human and economical resources can be reduced by the same energies and talents which propelled agriculture to its present stages of productivity and prosperity.

Now, therefore, I, Alton A. Kellar, President of the Board of Supervisors, do hereby call on the people of Hancock County to observe the week of July 25-31, 1976 as National Farm Safety Week. I urge all farm families and those persons allied with agriculture to intensify their efforts to curtail and halt accidents when and where possible.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 19 day of July in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Seventy-Six and of the Independence of the United States of America, the two hundredth.

Signed: Alton A. Kellar

Mrs. George named Hancock County Lung Assn. memorial gifts chairman

The Mississippi Lung Association is continuing its annual memorial gift program announced J. Sneed McInville of Laurel, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization.

McInville also announced that Mrs. Maurice George is the local Memorial Gifts

Chairman for the Hancock County Chapter.

Special memorial gift information being mailed to Mississippians will provide materials and information for use in making memorial gifts in support of the year-round "life and breath" programs of the Lung Association. One such program has been established to provide an annual medical research fund for Mississippians who have lung diseases.

Throughout the year, many friends remember the Mississippi Lung Association with tax-deductible memorial gifts and bequests. Memorial gifts are acknowledged in the donor's name to the family of the person honored.

Memorial gift contributions may be sent to Mrs. Maurice George at 1201 Grove St., Waveland, Miss. 39576 or directly to the Mississippi Lung Association, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, Miss. 39208. For further information, contact Mrs. George at 467-7156.

Army issues delay guidelines

MOBILE, AL.-In response to White House direction, Assistant Secretary of the Army for civil works, Victor V. Veysey, has issued guidelines for implementing a 60-day delay in extension of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' jurisdiction over discharges of dredged or fill material into the nation's waterways.

The President's action in issuing the delay was taken to give Congress additional time to consider the Section 404 program. Senate hearings on the program are scheduled to begin July 27.

The Corps' authority to regulate discharges of dredged or fill materials stems from Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 and is in accordance with the March 27, 1975 decision of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. In accordance with that court ruling, the Corps issued a new regulation on July 25, 1975 which became effective on that date. The July 25 regulation provided for a three-phase program expanding the Corps' permit responsibilities. Phase I, which has been in effect for nearly one year, requires a permit to discharge dredged or fill material in waters that have been, are now, or are susceptible for use for interstate and foreign commerce, tidal waters and nearby wetlands. The recent decision to delay the extension does not affect work in Phase I waters and permits will still be required. The delay in implementation pertains only to Phase II, which would have gone into effect on July 1 of this year. Phase II expands jurisdiction to natural lakes with more than five surface acres, primary tributaries of Phase I waters and nearby wetlands.

In issuing the guidelines, Secretary Veysey emphasized the following points: Permits will not be required for work in Phase II waters, but the Corps will continue to take action to stop discharges which will have serious impact on water quality. Under this authority, district engineers monitor discharges into all water of the United States, including those under Phase II jurisdiction, and may take appropriate administrative and enforcement action.

Applications for discharges of dredged or fill material into Phase II waters will continue to be accepted from those who wish to submit them during the 60-day period. No final action will be taken during this period. Application forms are available at all Corps offices. The Corps cautions those individuals planning construction activities in Phase II waters that any work should be undertaken with full awareness of potential implications of the Phase II regulation, which is now scheduled to go into effect on Sept. 1, 1976. After that date, unless there is Congressional action, the permit procedures will apply generally to Phase II.

General permits will continue to be processed. The general permit, which provides blanket authorization for comparable activities with no significant adverse environmental impact in designated areas, is intended to simplify greatly the administrative procedure and time required to obtain authorization.

'Weather the storm' through safe boating

Going boating without the proper equipment isn't just foolish - it's also against the law.

The Committee for National Safe Boating points out that on Federal waters, there must be a life saving device for everyone aboard a pleasure craft. Craft up to 16 feet operated on Federal waters must carry proper lights and a fire extinguisher, if of closed construction, and craft from 16 to 26 feet long must carry in addition a hand whistle or horn audible for at least one-half mile. Larger craft, up to 65 feet long, require a hand or powered-operated whistle audible at least one mile, and a bell.

Most states have similar requirements.

Other items of equipment aren't required, but common sense dictates that you carry them, including anchor, line, paddle, first aid kit, flashlight, fenders, tool kit, extra can of fuel, compass and distress flares.

The best thing for boatmen to do in case of bad weather is to stay in port. However, here's what to do if you are caught out on the water in bad weather:

Don't lifesaving devices. Head for the nearest sheltered shore. If the water is very choppy, seat your passengers on the lowest part of the vessel, keeping them as close to the centerline as possible and head into the waves at reduced speed.

Should your motor fail, or the sea gets so rough you can't make headway, attach a sea anchor from the bow to keep the boat headed into the wind - a bucket or a shirt with the sleeves knotted together, attached to a line, will do the job in an emergency.

Keep calm. Panic spreads easily, and a well-found small boat is capable of surviving nicely in bad weather if handled calmly and correctly.

If your boat should capsize or swamp, take this word of advice from boating safety experts: "Don't attempt to swim to shore; it is probably much farther than it looks. Stay with the boat - most pleasure craft will stay afloat even when capsized or filled with water. Just hang on and wait for help to arrive."

Boats aren't required to carry a fluorescent orange distress flag in most states but it's a good idea anyway, reminds the Committee for National Safe Boating. It's the perfect daytime distress signal because it lasts all day long, unlike a flare, which is spent in only minutes.

Ford proclaims July 25-31 National Farm Safety Week

MISSISSIPPI STATE-President Gerald R. Ford has proclaimed July 25-31 as National Farm Safety Week. The theme for the 33rd consecutive observance of the annual national event is "Educate for Safety."

National Farm Safety Week is cosponsored by the National Safety Council (NSC) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is designed to initiate and promote safety on America's farms and ranches.

"Mississippi farmers should take advantage of Farm Safety Week to educate their families, employees and themselves about the hazards that can cause farm accidents," urges John Singleton, farm safety specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Agricultural work accidents in 1975 claimed lives of nearly 2,000 persons and caused around 190,000 disabling injuries, according to NSC figures.

"One of the biggest threats to farm safety is operating machinery incorrectly," said Singleton. "To prevent this, farm equipment operators should reach the instruction manual that comes with each piece of new equipment."

Follow the manufacturer's recommendations and use equipment only for the job it was intended.

Take advantage of Farm Safety Week to locate hazards, learn to correct them and act in time to prevent injury to yourself, family or employees, urges Singleton. Your county Extension agent can help you with an educational safety program for your farm. Contact him and learn how you can "Educate for Safety."

50th anniversary to be celebrated at St. Rose

Rev. Francis Theriault of New Orleans will be principal celebrant at a special 50th Anniversary Mass, scheduled for 12 noon, Sunday at St. Rose de Lima Church on Necaise Ave., Bay St. Louis.

Concelebrants will be Rev. Borgia Aubespín and Rev. Walter Bracken, pastor and assistant pastor respectively. Rev. Terry Steib, Provincial, Southern Providence Divine Word Missionaries, will deliver the homily.

Immediately following the mass, a program of selected music will be sung in the church by members of the St. Cecilia and Goodwill Baptist Church choirs.

The program will conclude with the serving of dinner on the St. Rose de Lima School grounds.

Church officials have invited participation in the celebrations by all members of the community.

"We earnestly invite all people of Hancock County to attend this celebration," a church spokesman said.

St. Rose de Lima Church was originally dedicated in 1926 with Rev. Francis Baltes as pastor. It was constructed during the previous year, according to a church publication, "... through the efforts of its parishioners..."

Originally staffed by the Sisters of St. Joseph, the St. Rose de Lima School faculty responsibilities were assumed by the Sister Servants of the Holy Spirit in 1924. The old two-story structure, built about that time, was replaced by the modern facility in 1959.

I am thinking of changing jobs but do not want to lose my retirement benefits under my present employer's retirement plan. Is there any way to safeguard this money?

One of the primary reasons Individual Retirement Accounts have been created is to implement situations such as yours. An advantage you may take the money accumulated in your present employer's retirement plan and reinvest it within 60 days into an Individual Retirement Plan - avoiding the tax on the distribution from your former employer - thus saving accumulated retirement income and taxes. If you do not put more assets in your IRA, you can later transfer those funds to a future employer's retirement plan - tax free. Investment alternatives include plans with insurance companies using retirement income life insurance and deferred annual premium annuities.

THE Hair Hut presents
Sandy Scharp
Diana Sones

Sandy is the former Sandra Ladner of Bay St. Louis. After 4 years of training & practice in Utah, she has returned to the Coast to present the latest in hair design to local residents.

Diana has been a stylist in Bay St. Louis since 1969, and is a graduate of American Beauty College. They have had advanced training in New Orleans & the Coast as well as special classes at the Hair Hut.

Sandy & Diana invite you to the Hair Hut at 437 Main for a NEW YOU!

Public invited to meet authors

Georgette Brockman Hall, author of The Sicilian, a novel which constructs the assassination of Police Chief David C. Hennessy by warring factions of the Sicilian Mafia in New Orleans and events following, will be among the many writers who will be represented at the Royal Sonesta Hotel on Louisiana Authors' Day Saturday, July 31, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

was sponsored by Figaro and the Royal Sonesta Hotel.

Mrs. Hall now a resident of Diamondhead with her husband, is well known along the Coast. She was a teacher of English and librarian at Bay High School for many years. Husband Norman was superintendent of schools in Pass Christian and administrator of Christ Episcopal Day School in Bay St. Louis.

The Sicilian is Mrs. Hall's second novel. Her first, The House on Rampart Street, was published while she was teaching at Bay High School.

Initial development partially complete at McLeod Water Park

The addition of a lighted ballfield will wrap up the first phase of development activities at McLeod Water Park. Kiln, it was announced this week by Pearl River Basin Development District (PRBDD) board members Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis and I. J. Breaux of Kiln.

The board members said complete facilities will include a picnic area with 20 tables, habachi grills and waste receptacles and a boat launching ramp built adjacent to two piers on one of the inland lakes.

Visitors have been frequenting the park for some time now, the board members said, making use of the picnic area and mile-long nature trail which contains directional-interpretative signs and wooden foot bridges.

The newest of Hancock County's recreational facilities, McLeod Water Park is being constructed by the PRBDD under its Pearl River Boatway Program.

Named for Albert and Virginia McLeod, a pioneer Hancock County family, the park is located on Texas Flat Road near an area where the McLeod family settled. Albert McLeod, a timberman, came to Hancock County from South Carolina in the early 1800's, and established a large sawmill, stave mill, planer mill, turpentine plant, and a general merchandise store. At one time, he had over 500 employees in the Jourdan River area.

Bay women take oath as 8 and 40 officers

Mrs. Esther Oschmann and Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, both of Bay St. Louis, were recently installed as officers of the Departmental Chapeau of 8 and 40, a subsidiary organization of the National American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Oschmann will take over duties as L'Archiviste and Mrs. Ladner was installed as L'Aumonier. The election and installation ceremonies took place July 17-18 during the annual Marche held at the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi.

Featured speaker was Mrs. Connie Brown, New Orleans,

L.A., National Area C partnership chairman, Southern Division.

Other officers elected and installed were Jean Eady, Forest, Departmental Chapeau; Julia Mae Quinn, Clarksdale, first Demi Chapeau; Missie Williams, Yazoo City, second Demi Chapeau; Sis Wescovich, Biloxi, L'Concierge; and Sara McCorkle, Jackson, L'Avocate.

Also, Mrs. Oschmann was selected as a delegate to attend the National Marche scheduled Aug. 20-25 in Seattle, Wash.

Bay High spirit squad rated 'No. 1' at cheerleading camp

Having received the Award of Excellence and straight superiors, the Bay Senior High cheerleaders returned home victoriously from the NCA cheerleader camp held at Perkinson Junior College, July 12-16.

Out of 48 cheerleading squads, National Cheerleader Association counselors rated Bay Senior High number one. The group received four straight superior ratings during the daily evaluation held Tuesday through Friday. They were judged on the basis of their cheers, regarding expression, rhythm, coordination and motion techniques. The degree of originality and difficulty of the cheer were also important in determining their superiority. Bay Senior High girls were also awarded the title "Super Star Squad" which was won by completing six out of seven categories combining cheers with areas such as tumbling and pyramid building. Tiger cheerleaders excelled in NCA spirit. They received two of the camp spirit sticks which are awarded to select squads with notable spirit and who cooperate willingly with staff members.

The 1976-77 Tiger cheerleader squad consists of 10 members. Representing the senior class are Sandy Boudreaux, Belinda Hill, Michele Mastic, Dana Mosby and Sandra Rayborn, captain. Junior squad members are Cathy Bosley, co-captain, Sandra Caruthers and Tracey Stieff.

Stacey Ball and Lisa Thomas represent the sophomore class. Squad members will spend the rest of the summer preparing for the busy football season coming this fall.

ELECTRICITY SCALE

Electricity is a measurable item — like the meat, vegetables, or fruit which you buy for your family.

Just as the food scales at your nearby supermarket weigh how many pounds of potatoes or oranges you purchase, the electric meter accurately measures the number of kilowatt-hours you use.

However, there's one difference. You pay the supermarket for food items before you eat them. With electricity, you pay for the kilowatt-hours after you have used them.

Everytime you switch on an appliance or the thermostat turns it on, our power plants burn more fuel and produce additional electricity which flows to that appliance and makes it operate. The exact number of kilowatt-hours you use is measured by your electric meter, and your next bill includes the cost of that electricity.

Summertime has arrived in southeast Mississippi, and our residential customers are using more electricity than usual. In fact, our typical residential customer buys twice as many kilowatt-hours of electricity in the summer months as in April, primarily because of air conditioning. And this increased use of electricity results in a higher electric service bill at the end of the month.

When you compare this month's bill with last month's, also compare the number of kilowatt-hours used. We all want to conserve and keep electric bills from being any larger than necessary, but only you can control the amount of electricity you use.

Mississippi Power Company wants to help you get the greatest possible value from your electric service dollar. You'll find many ideas and suggestions about the wise use of electricity in our 20-page "Energy Management Handbook." Pick up a free copy at any Mississippi Power office.

Legion wins Babe Ruth championship

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO American Legion, sparked by Tony Raboteau's four hits, won the Babe Ruth League crown Friday defeating Coast Electric 8-4 in the final game of their three game series.

Raboteau and Alton Benoit helped Legion to a 3-0 lead after three frames with two singles each, but Coast Electric aided by a triple from Woody Necaise tied it in the next inning.

Coast took a 4-3 lead in the fifth, but Legion quickly regained it for good with a double by Raboteau and two errors by Coast.

Kerry Geroux fanned nine for Legion and walked two in coming back from his earlier playoff defeat on Monday.

Dwayne LaFontaine took the loss, striking out nine and contributing two hits to the offense.

Wallace singled for Legion while Donnie Strong, Mike Richardson, Scott Cox and Bobby Richardson singled for Coast Electric.

Babe Ruth president Al Geroux presented the championship trophy to Legion following the final game. Legion was also presented the sportsmanship trophy by Mrs. Dick Thames, widow of the late Parks & Playgrounds member for whom the current season was dedicated.

Bay All-stars clip Hernando, 15-10

OLIVE BRANCH - Bay St. Louis nudged Hernando, Miss. 15-10 Tuesday in the state Babe Ruth Tournament for 14-15-year-old All Stars.

Blaine Thomas was the winning pitcher for the Bay St. Louis All Stars, getting 10 strikeouts and only giving up five hits in going the distance.

Kerry Corr sparked at the plate for the Bay, collecting a grand slam home run and three hits. Woody Necaise and Dwayne LaFontaine added two hits apiece.

Bay St. Louis now advances to play Long Beach, Miss. Thursday at 8:45 p.m. in the double elimination playoffs.

Stone, Orange Grove advance in Little League playoffs

BAY ST. LOUIS - Stone County and Orange Grove won the opening games of the Little League District II playoffs here at McDonald Field Tuesday night.

Orange Grove shut out Gulfport American 2-0 on the strength of a no-hitter by T. Herndon.

D. Ridens, pitcher for Gulfport American, allowed only three hits in the losing effort.

In the second game Stone County scored five runs in extra inning play to defeat Bay St. Louis 9-6 after both teams were tied 4-4 at the end of regulation play.

Stone County's five runs came in the top of the seventh inning on three hits and two errors. Bay St. Louis could manage only two runs in the bottom of the inning.

A. Nicholson went all the way for Stone County and allowed eight hits to pick up the win.

Bruce Cabell was the losing pitcher giving up eight hits. Neal Wilkerson, Bay centerfielder, hit a home run over the right field fence in the seventh inning with no one on base.

T. Fairley was the leading hitter for Stone County with two hits for three AB's. Scott Adams had two hits for three AB's for Bay St. Louis and Neal Wilkerson collected two hits in four trips to the plate.

Play continues tonight, tomorrow and Saturday nights with opening games starting at 5:30 p.m. each night, followed by the second game at 7:30 p.m.

Thursday - Orange Grove vs. Stone County in 5:30 p.m. opener. Winner of Wednesday's game between Woolmarket vs. Pass Christian will meet winner of Handsboro vs. Harrison-Hancock in the 7:30 p.m. second game Thursday.

Friday - District II championship game between either Orange Grove or Stone County and winner of second game Thursday night.

Saturday - championship game between District II winner and District IV winner from Biloxi at 7 p.m. Field to be announced later.

Ronald Carter makes a play at first for Bay All-stars.

LARRY LADNER

Coaches say Ladner camp is success

The J. Larry Ladner Basketball Camp completed its three day session Saturday and was termed a "big success" by coaches Larry Ladner, Roland Ladner, and Mike Necaise.

Necaise, who coaches the Bay High boys' basketball team, said 35 boys attend the three day camp which culminated Saturday night in an open house for parents at Hancock North Central High School, site of the camp.

Camp attendees received certificates and a camp t-shirt.

Individual awards were given for free throw performance and one-on-one competition also.

Alan Dedeaux, Zachary Ladner, and Brian Arcement received the free throw awards for Group 1-3 respectively, while Pat Necaise, Michael R. Ladner and Cedric Ladner received the one-on-one awards.

Chief instructor Larry Ladner is a member of the University of Southern Mississippi faculty in the department of Athletic Administration and Coaching.

Legion captures Little League title

American Legion blasted Our Shopping Center 13-2 for the second half Little League championship last Friday night at McDonald Park.

Bruce Cabell, who collected the win for Legion, gave up four hits. Scott Moore had three for three at the plate for Legion including a home run. Moore's four bagger was the third posted by the Little League this season.

Cabell, in addition to his mound duties, contributed three hits in four AB's and scored one run. Keith Hess had two hits for four trips to the plate and scored twice. Gary Seeger was one for three at the plate and scored two runs. Craig Saucier had three hits and Keith Johnson had two hits.

For Our Shopping Center, Jerry Manleri had one hit and

The league's batting trophy was given to Gene Tarzetti of Rotary International. The pitching trophy went to Kerry Geroux of Legion.

Giants beat Yellowbirds

The Jolly Green Giants eeked out a narrow 19-17 victory over the Yellowbirds Monday at McDonald Park.

The Giants picked up most of their runs in the second inning and the Yellowbirds picked up most of their runs in the second and third innings.

Brian Laneaux hit two home runs for the Green Giants bringing in four runs on the first and three runs on the second.

The Orangemen will play the Red Roosters at 3:15 p.m. Friday at McDonald Park.

Knights lead minor league play

Special to the Echo
Boy's Minor League Baseball sponsored by Parks and Playgrounds had the Red Sox and the Blue Knights playing against each other on Thursday evening, July 8 at McDonald Park.

The Knights won the game after four innings of play 9-7. Leading scorer for the Knights was Troy Saucier with two runs. Leading scorer for the Red Sox was Donald Pitolo with two runs. Winning pitcher for the Knights was Jeffrey Smith.

On Thursday, July 15 the Red Sox coached by Chuck Genin played against the Blue Jays coached by Tim Favre in Boy's minor league action at

McDonald Park. After three innings of play the Red Sox won the game 16-11. The top scorers for the Red Sox were Frank Allen and Paul Pavolini with two runs each. The top scorer for the Blue Jays was Rusty Galloway with two runs. The winning pitcher for the Red Sox was Rusty Grier.

The Blue Knights coached by Jeffrey Reed took on the Green Brewers coached by Mike Favre at McDonald Park on Friday morning, July 16 due to an earlier cancellation because of rain.

After three innings of play the Knights won the game 25-7.

IRS sets testing dates for special examination

JACKSON-Sept. 27 and 28 have been selected as the test dates for the 1976 Special Enrollment examination, the Internal Revenue Service announced this week.

The examination, given each year to qualify persons who are neither CPA's nor attorneys to represent clients before the IRS, will be held at 301 North Lamar Street, Room 212, Jackson, Miss., for Mississippi applicants.

To qualify for the examination, applicants must submit Form 2587, Application for the 1976 Special Enrollment Examination, to the Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224 no later than Aug. 15, 1976. No extensions to file will be granted beyond that date, the IRS said.

The application must be accompanied by a recent photo of the applicant, which will be used for identification purposes only, and a check for the $25 examination fee, made payable to the Internal Revenue Service. The fee is not refundable, but, a $25 credit may be granted to apply on the next year's application fee as provided in the instructions on the back of Form 2587.

Anyone needing an application form 2587 or more information about the examination should contact Lois Caldwell, Examination Coordinator, IRS District Office, 301 North Lamar Street, Jackson, Miss. 39202.

Gardening experts point out that one of the commonest faults is mowing your lawn too seldom. In such cases the grass suffers a much greater shock because so much more is cut off at one time.

Bogalusa hosts Crafts & Art Mart

The first Bogalusa Crafts & Art Mart July 31-Aug. 1 will feature over 100 quality artists, craftsmen, and antique dealers from Louisiana, Mississippi, and even Texas. The general public in South Louisiana and Mississippi is invited to attend the colossal two day event that will run from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at Eisworth-Talbert, Inc. located at 100 Cumberland Street in Bogalusa. Complete information on the Crafts & Art Mart is available from the Bogalusa Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event. The Crafts and Arts Mart will feature over 65 distinctly different arts and crafts from cut glass, to oil paintings, to woodwork and metal sculpture, to handmade dolls and toys, to antique clocks. Live entertainment, both country and rock will also be featured, as well as concessions.

JUNIOR LIPTONS - Bay Waveland's team finished fourth in the GYA Capdevielle Junior Lipton Regatta sailed at Pensacola Yacht Club July 17 - 18.

DENNIS STEIEFFEL skipped the first race with Amy Chapman and Randy Santa Cruz crewing and finished second after a hard fought battle with first place David Bolyard of Pensacola Yacht Club and Terry Brunet of Pontchartrain Yacht Club, who finished third.

MIMI EAGAN sailed the second race for BWYC with Corky Hadden and Tommy Heausler as crew, and after an unfortunate fourteenth place start displayed excellent ability by making a fine comeback to finish fifth. Chip Merlin of St. Andrew's Bay Yacht Club won the second race.

Bay Waveland's third skipper RANDY SANTA CRUZ with his crew Amy Chapman and Dennis Stieffel sailed a fine race to finish fourth against some of the finest young sailors in the GYA. The final race was won by John Crammer of Pontchartrain Yacht Club, earning for his yacht club their first regatta victory.

Final Standings:

Gypsy Chick leads Moran charge

(Special To The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - Clyde Moran, a Hancock County horseman, visited the winners circle twice Sunday at Oak Downs.

In the 300-yard eighth race, Moran's Gypsy Chick gained revenge for a loss the previous week by turning back Kenneth Shows' Go Kenny Go, also from Hancock County.

In the 20th and final race of the day, Moran's Main Issue came from behind to beat Musco's Baby in a three-furlong test.

Other Hancock County horses winning were Shows' Super Dale in the 440-yard second, Joe Roberts' Sporty Falcon in the 350-yard fifth, Eugene Necaise's Deek's Bill in the 400-yard ninth, and Raymond Ellis Jr.'s Rebecca Bailey in the 330-yard 10th.

In a sizzling middle AAA performance, Time Check set a new track record for 330 yards in the 15th.

Owned and trained by Danica and George Thomas of Bogalusa, Time Check was clocked in 17.09 seconds in an easy victory over Red Top Winnie (17.29 Top AA).

The previous track and meet record was 17.20 by Elmo Harless' Fiber Test on May 16. Time Check also holds the meet record for 400 yards (20.91 on Jan. 11).

Sunday's results:
1) 330 Yards, Gray Ghost, 18.46 seconds, J.D. Ory, owner; Rocky Harris, trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. Mac's Again, 19.27, No Deb, third, Night Latch, 18.34 (Ran first but disqualified for fouling and placed last).

2) 440 yards, Super Dale, 23.76, Kenneth Shows, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. One For Money, 24.34.

3) 5 furlongs, Miss Allyson, 1:04.65, Delbert Cuevas, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Bashful Scholar, second. Main Issue, third. Mr. Bob, fourth. Jay's Gold, fifth.

4) 400 yards, Old Stupid, 21.08, Jimmie Magee, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Boston Wheeler, 21.42, Milk Money, 21.43.

Strong River canoe races set July 25

Final plans are set for the second annual Strong River Run Canoe Races Sunday, July 25 at 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the Magee Jaycees and the Pearl River Basin Development District, the second-year event has sparked an unusual amount of enthusiasm and interest according to Race Chairman Dale Barnes. "We've had inquiries from as far away as Slidell, La.," he said. Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded to the first three places. Barnes emphasized that there will be two trophies for each canoe.

Georgetown Water Park, which was recently constructed by the Pearl River Basin Development District will be the center of activities. All contestants are requested to check in with the race committee at the Water Park in order to be certified. Canoeers will then be lead to the start point upriver.

The race course will be approximately five miles in length, beginning at the Iron Bridge Crossing on Strong River (south of the S&S Grocery turn-off) and ending at the Georgetown Water Park. Winners will be determined on the basis of timed heats.

Information and entry blanks may be obtained by contacting the Magee Jaycees at 849-3332 or Pearl River Basin Development District at 354-6301. Racers may also sign up at Georgetown Water Park on the race day.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

A fun filled week of activities began Wednesday with an Egg Carton-Craft Session directed by Brian Nunnery.

On Thursday, campers had a chance to share both food and conversation with fellow campers at the Pot Luck Supper in the Rec Hall. Norine Barnes, of the Hancock County Extension Service, presented a slide show on Friday entitled "200 Years of Fashion." The weekly story hour was held later in the afternoon, followed by a ping pong tournament. First place was captured by Alan Eppinette, 15, of Bastrop with second place taken by Woody Wilson, 18, of Hot Springs.

Local craftsmen had a chance to display and sell their work at a Craftsmen Fair on Saturday. Participants included Igu Limited with hatch cover furniture; Hamilton-Guenard displaying metal sculpture; Closet Craft Shop specializing in pillows and decoupage; and Carl Baldenhoffer capturing the beauty of local scenes on canvas. Saturday night was highlighted by a movie for tennis and baseball fans.

Rev. Jay Decker of the Lutheran Church of the Pines began Sunday morning with a worship service. Later in the day the athletic-minded campers had a chance to demonstrate their coordination in the Basketball Free Throw Contest. Anthony Mitchell of Metairie won with seven out of 15 shots in the hoop.

Don't forget our Boat and Water Safety Show on July 31st.

Bay council postpones action on city park

The Bay St. Louis City Council voted at Monday's meeting to postpone action on a proposal to develop a city park at the corner of Ulman Avenue and N. Beach Blvd.

protection as deterrents to the project. He also said loss of revenue to the city would only amount to $330.

The decision came following receipt of a petition from persons living in the vicinity who were opposed to the plan, and a rundown by Mayor Warren Carver of the expenses that could be incurred.

Carver cited overwork of the maintenance department with increased expenses, the cost of benches, tables and walkways, the cost of outside lighting, high insurance rates, and additional police

During the brief meeting, the council discussed various matters, including collection of property taxes, constructing "Don't Litter" signs, and the possibility of regulating contractors, however no action was taken.

Before they adjourned, the council dismissed a proposal to construct speed bumps in Spanish Acres and distributed a sick leave policy to city employees for studying prior to the next meeting.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dec) Elliott

From all reports, fishing has been fair to muddling all week. Tides have been unusually low most all day, and for fresh water fishing a tide can get too low especially in the Bayous. A high tide falling slowly is best for fresh water fish. Salt water fishing has been good, mostly out in the marsh at Half Moon and along the Heron Bay Section, even down at Bayou Cadet. Speckles were caught at Outer Campbell and Three Oaks Bayou plus Pole Cat Bend.

Now is the time to use a perch pole, with small live shrunp, minnows or earthworms. Fish in the head of small bayous and canals at Bayou LaCroix. The perch congregate in these places. Tad poles, small crayfish and pot-bellied minnows can be caught in most road side ditches and pot holes off the roads.

One of the best baits to use when fishing for perch and bass are small live shrimp which can be found in small bayous and sometimes in small lakes along the banks. Most anything that is alive is good for catching bass and perch, even earthworms, crickets, roaches, frogs, grasshoppers and wasps. Wasp nests are plentiful now and a large wasp nest will furnish enough worms for a day's fishing. To get them, use a long fishing pole with a piece of rag saturated with gasoline or kerosene. Burn off the wasps and take the grubs from the nest.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Peter Gillan does mostly salt water fishing, but he's willing to do most any kind - floundering, crabbing, both soft and hard, etc. He has participated in fishing all his life and takes the outdoors seriously.

in brick masonry, does fishing and barbecues his fish. Ever try barbecued green trout or perch, if you haven't you've missed a treat.

Bud Thomas has been catching flounders while fishing on the bottom down by Bayou Cadet off the seawall. He got eight nice ones one day last week.

Shrimp have gotten scarce again. Shrimp boats are not being in too many, and they are not giving along the seawall. Shrimp are our main source of bait this time of the year. Maybe they will start running again.

Met August Rauxet and Perre Quintini fresh water fishing up Grand Plain Bayou. They not onlly had bass, but August had a five pound sheepshead and some fresh water catfish he caught on an H & H bait. Most any kind of fish can be caught in this bayou and its tributaries.

Hiram and Jean Weathersby caught an ice box of speckles and white trout in Bayou Cadet last week. Both are good fishermen and get their share of the finny tribe. Go on every occasion.

Met three other good fishermen down at La Frances camp, Al Merder, Prentice Asher and Mrs. Asher. They had some salt water fish. But Prentice informed me that gaff top catfish are excellent eating when prepared right. They had quite a few of them in their collection of fish. Prentice has a nice boat which they share with their friends.

Met Eddie Krieger who is retired and has a home at Clermont Harbor plus a swell outside fishing boat. Eddie got his share of speckles and other salt water fish the other day. He is originally from the Irish Channel in New Orleans. Enough said. I was born on the outskirts of it myself. Graduated from Jackson School in the 'Channel. Glad knowing you, Eddie!

"Too Many Alligators" was the head of an article I read in the Times-Picayune last week quoting the Wild Life and Fisheries Commission head. Where there are the most alligators are in three parishes, Calcasieu, Cameron and Vermillion. The open season in these parishes where alligators will be harvested is for Sept. 9 through Oct. 8 Ensminger said. We have plenty of alligators in Mississippi. Hardly go fishing that we don't see a couple. There hasn't been a closed season on them for the past few years.

Figs are now in season and are most everywhere. They are mighty good with ice cream if you haven't tried them. The birds are giving them the devil. They like 'em, too.

Went fishing with Wop Glover last Saturday, caught our share of bass over at Bayou Portage. A falling tide was the answer. We were using surface bugs.

Soft crabs are still being caught out front. Not too many, but enough for a meal. Hard crabs are also being caught. Flounders are being speared and caught a plenty while fishing on the bottom. Croakers are caught most anywhere. Red fish can be caught in the three bayous this side of the Pine Hills Hotel and along the bank of the Bay of St. Louis from Catfish Bayou to the big cut off. Try them also at Grassy Point to the right of the hotel.
